A New World of Understanding

Run-of-the-mill maps place the U.S. above. Since "upper" is equated with "superior," this has bred misconceptions and mischief. The Turnabout Map offers a corrective perspective.

NOW in Business Subjects as well as Science Mosby Texts Challenge Your Students

A New Book!
MARKETING
By Eric N. Berkowitz, Ph.D., Roger A. Kerin, Ph.D. and William Rudelius, Ph.D.
Using an applied approach, this new text involves students in real life marketing activities that illustrate basic concepts and their applications. Throughout the book, research studies in the form of Marketing Research Reports show students the scientific principles and building blocks as they are applied to business decisions. Helpful study aids, a glossary and Career Planning in Marketing Appendix add to the value of the text.
1986. 800 pp., 250 ills. ISBN 0-8016-0602-0. $32.95.

A New Book!
ECONOMICS
By John M. Barron and Gerald J. Lynch, both at Purdue University.
This new text can help develop an economist's approach to problem solving. Using the most basic tools of economic analysis—supply and demand—and applying them whenever possible, the student gains a basic understanding of these tools. The authors emphasize the micro-foundations of macroeconomics by looking individually at the financial, labor and output markets before deriving aggregate demand and supply curves. They also integrate institutional detail throughout their discussion of macroeconomics. More than 1000 multiple choice questions are included in the Instructor's Manual available to teachers adopting the text.
1986. 510 pp., 139 ills. ISBN 0-8016-3060-6. $21.95.

Order on 30-day Approval for Teacher Resource.
Complimentary copies available to those making adoption decisions. Supply information on course title, enrollment and text in use.

New 4th Edition
BIOLOGY OF ANIMALS
By Cleveland P. Hickman, Jr., Ph.D., Larry S. Roberts, Ph.D., and Frances M. Hickman, Ph.D.
A balanced presentation of general zoology, this popular text provides a comprehensive up-to-date understand-ing of animal form, function, diversity and evolution. The book features thoroughly researched coverage of animal phyla, emphasizing the unifying architectural and function theme of each group. The structure and function of representative forms are described together with ecological, behavioral and evolutionary relationships. A comprehensive instructor's manual includes sample course outlines, chapter outlines, lesson plans, AV sources.

In the new film MIND'S VIEW, you will

SEE HOW CHILDREN THINK

You watch children in school to make sure they pay attention. You see them struggle with their arithmetic, their reading, their writing. Are they getting it? Do they understand?

If only you could see how they think . . .

Now there is a way to look into those bright minds–through a wonderful new film: MIND'S VIEW.

In 43 minutes, MIND'S VIEW takes you into the mental world of four normal children, alike in character and capacity, but different in their natural thought processes.

The children themselves will tell you, and show you, how each has a unique way of learning.

You will recognize how effective your teaching can be when you vary techniques to reach the four basic ways children learn.

MIND'S VIEW is based on the well-known Mind Style® research of Dr. Anthony F. Gregorc, who discovered the four ways children view and organize the world around them:

Concrete Sequential*
Abstract Sequential*
Abstract Random*
Concrete Random*

There's Nora, the pragmatist, the time keeper, the organizer.

Steve's the theorist, the thinker, the logician.

Dawn is the artist, the psychic, the idealist.

And Sean, the inventor, the competitor, the intuitive leaper.

These children have been captured on film with great sensitivity by Dr. Martha Cray-Andrews, noted consultant in Gifted Education and Mind Styles.®

Show MIND'S VIEW to a group of teachers and open a door for them into the four worlds they will enter the next time they start a class.

Show it to parents for discussion with the help of a stimulating booklet that comes with the film.
